The Top 225 Global Contractors 2011

Text size: A A

The international contracting community has been enduring difficult economic headwinds during the past three years. However, even as the U.S. continues to fight off the prospect of a double-dip recession and European nations pull back from stimulus programs to stabilize the troubled euro, opportunities are bubbling for international contractors in developing countries, particularly those rich in resources.

The table below shows only rankings and firm name. For complete the data list see the following links.
