The Top 225 International Contractors 2011

Text size: A A

The international contracting community has been enduring difficult economic headwinds during the past three years. However, even as the U.S. continues to fight off the prospect of a double-dip recession and European nations pull back from stimulus programs to stabilize the troubled euro, opportunities are bubbling for international contractors in developing countries, particularly those rich in resources.

The table below shows only rankings and firm name. For complete the data list see the following links.

What are the bases of ENR in this ranking?

How about the unpopular contracting firms who are performing well?

How would ENR know about this?

Hello Mike,

I think, if we will based in ENR, The most fast growing contractor are those who are in the top of the list.

You could see in the ranking from the fast five years and you could compare them

WORLEYPARSONS LEAD IN HSE

WorleyParsons HSE award, known as the Chairman's HS&E Award, has two categories. The Champion award recognizes outstanding leadership by an individual in the area of HS&E in the development and/or implementation of a new initiative or an extended period of exemplary service to HS&E within WorleyParsons and/or its joint ventures.

The Platinum category recognizes achievements such as HS&E leadership, innovative approaches, implementation and transfer of best practice, implementation of HS&E strategy and outstanding HS&E statistical improvement.

I agree and this ENR source is very reliable! If Hyundai Engineering will lead it is because they are experienced in this field. They are the leading firm in South Korea!

Hyundai Engineering Designed the Famous Machang Bridge... It is one of the longest bridge that links the world Famous and world's best International Airport – the Incheon International Airport to Seoul.

10 Kudos for Hyundai!
